ABOUT YELLOWWOOD

Welcome to Fairfield farm, the home of Yellowwood Café. It is our pleasure and a privilege to have you as guests at this wonderful heritage site. Sir George Sutton built this magnificent home that is now a Restaurant. The House was built in 1870 from stone that was quarried at the edge of the cliff and most the wood came from the Yellowwood indigenous forests in the Karkloof. The original home was thatched, Sir George extended the house, adding on a lounge with a vaulted ceiling, an office and what is now the kitchen. He imported the corrugated iron which he then used to roof the house. This extension was done prior to him becoming the Premier of Natal in 1902.

His Grandson Tom Sutton sold Fairfield to Dawn Mackenzie in 1979, Dawn then sold it on 4 years later to Derek and Eve Hughes. In 2003 Sandra Murphy purchased Fairfield and established what is now the Yellowwood Café and Restaurant, function, conference and Wedding venue. On the 13th of June 2020 Yellowwood turned 17 years old. This beautiful old house is the only privately owned property with a view directly opposite the face of the Howick Falls.

We strive to use as many locally produced or supplied products as possible, organic produce is also used wherever possible. We have been mindful while compiling our menu to cater for both the young and the young at heart. We hope you enjoy our rustic family restaurant in the Midlands please relax and enjoy our wonderful surroundings and we will strive to make your experience at Yellowwood a joyful occasion.
